Funds Sought For Aliyah As Door For Children Opened

Hadassah Sends $25,000

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
NEW YORK. — A nationwide emergency campaign to raise funds for the transfer to Palestine of Jewish children, many of whom have been separated from their parents during the reprisals against Jews in Germany, has been launched by Hadassah. More than $25,000, enough to care for some 70 refugee children already holding certificates for Palestine, was sent to Jerusalem by Hadassah as an initial contribution.

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
JERUSALEM. — The Palestine Government has granted, 2,000 immigration certificates for students who will be registered at various institutions, it was learned. The Jewish National Council, after consultation with Jewish communities and institutions, decided that 5,000 German Jewish children could be absorbed here. The council adopted a resolution calling on Jewish communities to enroll families for adoption of refugee children.

Sees Room For 10,000

LONDON. — Dr. Katznelson, of the Palestine Jewish National Council, now visiting London, declared in comment on the Jerusalem message: "If the British Government will grant the necessary permission, 10,000 Jewish children from Nazi Germany will be placed in children's agricultural settlements, farms and private homes. The full cost of transport, maintenance, education and vocational training would be borne by the Palestine Jewish Community and Jews throughout the world. Jewish immigration experts say that some 40,000 refugees can be settled in Palestine in six months — 10,000 children up to the age of 14, 5,000 from 14 to 17, 7,500 from 18 to 35, 10,000 young men and women now in training centers in central and Eastern Europe, and 7,000 relatives of German Jews in Palestine. Such immigration to Palestine would be possible if the British Government were willing to relax its restrictions in view of the present urgent need."

Refugees Here Worried Over Kin

By HANS AL KATZENSTEIN

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
NEW YORK. — German Jews in New York were panic-stricken, as news reached them over the weekend of the plight of relatives and friends in Germany. Washington Heights, a New York section most densely populated by German Jewish refugees and ironically called the "Fourth Reich," presented a changed picture as most German Jews kept to their homes discussing with American friends the quickest way to help their terrorized brethren to leave Germany.

Postal Telegraph and Western Union offices were jammed until 2 o'clock in the morning by German Jews asking the whereabouts of relatives, most of whom were reported arrested. A young woman whose husband was very ill in a Jewish hospital received a cable that he was removed from the hospital two hours after an operation by Nazi troops in civilian clothes (Continued on last page)

Statement From Rabbi Martin Perley

On Wednesday, November 16, anti-Jewish signs were painted on several places around the Indiana University campus. As soon as the inscriptions were brought to my attention, I communicated with President Wells who was deeply concerned over the incident. He immediately ordered the University Grounds employees to eradicate these inscriptions and he called a special meeting of the Deans to consider the situation. This committee decided to make a thorough investigation of the incident and to discover, if possible, the perpetrators. However, they felt that it would be best for all concerned not to publicize the incident which they hope will prove to be merely a childish prank.

To indicate official disapproval of the introduction of such Nazi tactics, the University Committee on Religion was instructed to sponsor a meeting of prayer and sympathy on behalf of the persecuted victims of the Nazi terror in Germany. Such a meeting was held last Friday evening in the Business Auditorium, and was addressed by clergymen of the various religious denominations. An account of this meeting will probably appear elsewhere in this paper.

I sincerely hope that last week's incident is the work of some irresponsible individual or individuals and that it is not an outward manifestation of a more serious anti-Jewish movement. I know that President Wells, the University officials, and the student body in general are very sympathetic and cordial to the Hillel Foundation and the Jewish students. As an indication of general student disapproval of last week's incident, I need only cite the action of the members of the Sphinx Club, which is composed of leaders of campus opinion, who themselves went out and scraped off some of the anti-Jewish signs on the campus.

Under the circumstances, I do not feel that last week's unfortunate incident need cause us any undue alarm.

MARTIN PERLEY.

Director, Hillel Foundation.

Fast Day Proposed; Mourn For Month Planned Czeck Laws Hit Jews

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

BUCHAREST. — A proposal that the fifteenth day of the Hebrew month Cheshvan, marking the day when the pogrom in Germany broke out (Nov. 10), be established as a permanent day of mourning in the Jewish calendar was made by the Rabbinical Council of Rumania, which decided to approach the rabbinate in Britain and Palestine with the suggestion. The meeting, over which Chief Rabbi Jakob Niemirower presided, proclaimed Nov. 23 as a day of fast.

Polish Jews Pray

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

WARSAW. — Polish Jewry opened a month of mourning over the persecution of Jews in Germany, during which all entertainment will be banned and the psalms will be recited daily. Collections for the German Jews will be made at all synagogues. A general fast was held Wednesday.

ABOARD S. S. NORMANDIE. — Christian and Jewish passengers joined in prayers for the persecuted in Germany, in connection with the services held in the United States and Britain. Rabbi Israel Goldstein of New York, who is president of the Jewish National Fund, officiated at the service. He was returning with other Zionist leaders from London where they attended meetings of the Zionist General Council and the Jewish Agency Administrative Committee.

PRAHA. — The new Czechoslovak "National Party" organized through a merger of five groups in the Government's parliamentary majority broadcast a program for converting the nation into an "authoritarian democracy" pledged to mold a new State from what remains of Czechoslovakia after its recent partition. The program includes promise of rapid solution of the "question of emigration, particularly Jewish emigration."

The Government will promulgate anti-Jewish legislation, it was reliably learned, shortly after the forthcoming presidential elections. The legislation, it was understood, will include a numerous nullus for Jews in the administration, journalism and the arts. It will also provide for a five per cent numerus clausus in the professions and trade, and a prohibition of mixed marriages.

Problem of Husband Jr. Hadassah Theme

A discussion of "Why I Am A Jew", a humorous monologue, and current events will be presented at the regular meeting of Junior Hadassah at 8 p. m., Wednesday, Nov. 30, in Kirshbaum Center. Beatrice Cohen, chairman of the Palestine Committee, will discuss current events and Mrs. Cora Goldstein will read "Resolved That King Solomon With His 1,000 Wives Had An Easier Time Than The Man Today With His One." Frieda Brill will present an historical background of modern Palestinian life.

Fights For Justice

DOROTHY THOMPSON

Defense Fund Hits $10,000

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

NEW YORK. — A Journalists' Defense Committee to seek funds among non-Jews only for the defense of Herschel Grynszpan and a public trial was announced by Dorothy Thompson, N. Y. Herald Tribune columnist, whose radio appeal in the youth's behalf brought thousands of letters and telegrams and also unsolicited contributions. The committee reports that it has received $10,000, with more checks rolling in.

Meanwhile in Paris Maitre Vincent de Moro-Giafferi, famous criminal attorney, announced that he will conduct the defense of Herschel Grynszpan, 17-year-old Polish Jew who assassinated Ernst vom Rath. He will be assisted by attorneys H. Schwarz and De Vesinne Larue. They were engaged by the American Journalists' Defense Committee.

In Washington it was said that Attorney General Homer Cummings may be the lawyer sent to Paris by Mrs. Thompson's committee. Cummings, who retires from the Cabinet in January, first attracted public attention as a prosecuting attorney when he reopened the case of a young Jew accused of killing a priest and sensationally revealed the man's innocence.

Milan Cardinal Flays Duce Policy

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

VATICAN CITY, Italy. — A scathing sermon delivered by Ildefonso Cardinal Schuster, Archbishop of Milan, in condemnation of Italy's anti-Semitic policy was prominently published without comment by the Osservatore Romano, official Vatican organ. Cardinal Schuster warned Premier Mussolini that Germany might turn on him once it has rid itself of the Jews. The Prelate condemned "this new nordic heresy" as "an international danger not less grave than Bolshevism itself."

Say President Jewish

ROME. — President Roosevelt is of Jewish origin, and his humanitarianism in reality masks a campaign to frighten the Latin-American countries into buying millions of dollars worth of United States munitions, La Tribuna charged. The entire Fascist press scoffed at the democracies for their concerted indignation at Germany's persecution of the Jews.

U. S. Jewry Held Ready To Help In New Colony Plan

Special

NEW YORK. — Despite the fact that no definite plans have as yet been made public in connection with the new colonization efforts for Jewish refugees, American Jewry is already discussing the part the Jewish community of this nation will play in the success of the world-wide effort.

Although it is known that U. S. will be expected to contribute huge sums for the operation of the plan, nowhere has there been an indication of anything except the highest spirit of co-operation. The largest sums ever raised by U. S. Jewry were amassed after the war, but even these high figures are considered insignificant in the face of what will be needed in the near future.

One Jewish leader, who asked that he not be quoted, pointed out that the $5,000 givers of the past will probably donate $25,000, $30,000 and perhaps $50,000. He also declared that heretofore most of the contributions have come from income, but that now probably Jews will give from their principal.

Leaders here feel that despite the size of the task, raising the money through whatever means are determined upon will be comparatively easy. Jews of the United States, realize now, it is felt, exactly how serious is the world situation, and are ready to do all possible to help the persecuted everywhere.

Canadian Jews Ready

OTTAWA. — A Jewish group is prepared to sponsor and finance immigration of refugees to Canada provided the Government admits them, it was learned here. A Government spokesman told the J.T.A. the Government was not prepared to make a statement on the question until Prime Minister MacKenzie King, who is in Washington to sign the Canadian-American trade treaty, has discussed the refugee problem with President Roosevelt.

Nation's Press Lashes Nazis

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

NEW YORK. — The press of the nation continued to devote an unprecedented amount of space to editorials, cartoons and news stories on German persecution. The New York Herald Tribune hailed President Roosevelt's statement as an example to the world, as did the World-Telegram, Post and Sun. Even the German daily, New Yorker Staats-Zeitung und Herold, in its second editorial on the subject, repudiated the Nazi Party as leader of the German people and denounced the "sadistic lowness" of the oppression of the Jews.

The New York Times and Herald Tribune, in further editorials, stressed America's duty to fight prejudice. One symptom of American reaction has been the flood of letters to newspapers, virtually unanimous in their condemnation of the oppression. The Times, Herald Tribune, Post and World Telegram have published columns upon columns of such letters. The World-Telegram published a full page of letters urging immediate and concerted action to relieve German Jews' distress.

Our Film Folk of HOLLYWOOD

By HELEN ZIGMOND

HOLLYWOOD.—Thoughts while strolling: Who put the "mizzuzah" on the door of the Union Pacific Bus Depot? Why was it left there? Relic of some forgotten past... many times varnished over... perhaps that door once opened onto a kosher meat market or delicatessen....

If you've wondered... as we have... how the camera virtually mounts atop the flames in newsreel shots of fires, it's the telescopic lens that does the trick....

Why was it necessary to point up the only presumably Jewish character in "La Grande Illusion" as wealthy?...

That new method, now in general use, of recording musical numbers separately from the visual action on the film is certainly a "break" for the singers—and their audiences!...

Why is it that in the theater a good actor submerges himself in the character portrayed... whereas screen idols dare not completely envelop themselves in other personalities, lest their own much-publicized screen selves be marred. Sally Schnitzel remains sweet sixteen regardless of Time's flight... mustn't disillusion her public; Sammy Schnaps, in his toughest role, must never strike the fair sex... his fans would object.

Though Leni Riefenstahl vehemently denies any connection between her arrival in the States and dissemination of propaganda, insiders believe the purpose of her visit is the peddling of her "epic," that million-plus footage on the '36 Olympics. The film has knocked about here for more than a year, but none of the major distributors will handle it because of the prevalent anti-Nazi feeling among movie-goers.

On a Paris-street set used for "Artists and Models Abroad," Charlie Adler browsed through a pile of second-hand books. Suddenly he asked, "Say, who wrote Boswell's Life of Johnson?" Cracked ever-helpful Jack Benny, "It hasn't been decided yet!"

Harry Cohn and David Selznick announce the jobs of "Golden Boy" and "Scarlet O'Hara" are still unfilled. "Many are called—but none is chosen."

Good News Bulletin: Luise Rainer and Clifford Odets are reconciled (at least for this edition)... they have bought a farm in New York State where they plan to be together six months a year.

Franciska Gaal received a bulky letter the other day. On lookers marveled at its length until she explained that it was a congratulatory letter from her Budapest fan club and signed by its three thousand members!

Dots and Jots: Bert Lahr has written a book about the theatre called, "People To Be Laughed At." Grammatically, that's to be cried about. Chaplin's proposed production is now titled, "The Dictator," an encouraging advance, since latterly it had been designated by a number. January is the scheduled starting time, but Charlie doesn't mention what year. George Cukor is said to receive the highest salary ever paid a director. Hedy LaMarr, whose swimming in "Ecstasy" brought her fame, has moved into a more pretentious abode, with a swimming pool. "Swimming is her best entertainment...."

Neatest trick of the week: Sam Pokrass composed the music for "Drink From The Cup Of Life" in about two hours!

See you next week.

Nazis Irate As Jewish Police Guard Consulate

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
BERLIN.—German official circles shook with fury over the story from New York that Mayor LaGuardia had placed Jewish policemen to guard the German Consulate. Der Angriff, organ of Goebbels, said editorially: "We know that Mr. LaGuardia, Mayor of New York, whose fat Jewish face is known to us through his innumerable demonstrations of incitement against Germany, is not a man of taste or decency. Placing a Jewish guard at the German Consulate is a gross lack of tact and a greasy lie. American Jewry can never protect the German flag because it furnishes anti-German demonstrations and pays the yowling rabble."

Guard Nazis

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
NEW YORK.—Three Jewish policemen commanded by Captain Max Finkelstein were assigned to guard the German consulate after threats had been made against Consul-General Hans Borchers. Although no city official would comment officially, it was learned that the action represented a rebuke by New York City to the German Government. Mayor LaGuardia indicated to newspapermen that he knew of the action.

Four Die, But Citrus Shipping Goes On

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
JERUSALEM.—In the face of continuing violence that claimed the lives of four Jews, many Arabs and several British soldiers, Jews pushed colonization activities and the citrus shipping season was opened with dispatch of 18 fruit-laden vessels from the ports of Tel Aviv, Jaffa and Haifa. Two new settlements were established. One was launched by 15 German Jews under leadership of Daniel Straus, a former member of the German Reichstag, near Kfar Yonah in the Sharon Valley. The second colony, Sharona, was established near Yavniel.

2 Children Saved By Gifts Of Indian a Children, Mrs. Goodman Reveals

Confirmation And Graduation Sums Mount To $750

Mrs. J. A. Goodman, member of the national board of Hadassah, and head of the local Youth Aliyah committee of the Indianapolis Hadassah, this week thanked the youth of Indianapolis and Indiana through the Jewish Post for saving the lives of two Jewish children who were brought to Palestine by funds given in the name of confirmations, graduates, and birthdays of Indiana Jewish children.

"I have been instructed to transmit to all of you the heart-felt thanks of two young people whose lives will forever be yours", Mrs. Goodman wrote in a Thanksgiving message.

Revealing that the fund had grown through small gifts to $750, Mrs. Goodman said that gifts are still coming in.

The campaign was announced this summer in The Jewish Post when the first emergency fund to enable 1,000 children to be transferred to Palestine was launched. Many contributions began to pour in from all parts of the nation, one $10 gift coming in from a Jewish Post subscriber in New York City, and another $25 check from Danville, Ill.

Under the plan friends and relatives of children graduating, being confirmed, having birthdays, or celebrating Chanukah, would send contributions to this paper or to Mrs. J. A. Goodman, Kessler Blvd., Indianapolis, Ind. Mrs. Goodman in turn would mail a dignified card to the child saying that such and such an amount of money had been given to Youth Aliyah by such and such a person in behalf of the certain child. The plan caught on immediately and was copied in many other cities. All gifts came in unsolicited.

The Jewish Post will continue to turn over to Mrs. Goodman all gifts received.

To the Young People of Indiana:

On this our Thanksgiving week-end I have been instructed to transmit to all of you the heart-felt thanks of two young people whose lives will forever be yours. They are the youths whose lives were saved by the graduation, confirmation, birthday and other gifts which were made in your names last summer.

I wish I could report in detail how they are spending their Thanksgiving week-end, but I can tell you only that they are now out of Austria and in Palestine and that they have escaped the fates that were the lot of the thousands of others still there.

It may not have seemed possible to you that the small amounts given could have grown to such a large total, but they amounted to over seven hundred fifty dollars, enough to save two children.

Gifts Are Still Coming In

Almost one thousand young people in all were granted visas and escaped Austria, Germany, Roumania and Poland before the first of October—but it will never be forgotten that two of this number were saved by the young people of Indiana. In this you have worked and given side by side with Eddie Cantor and many other distinguished people.

MRS. JACK A. GOODMAN.

The meeting will also consider ways of preventing the rise of Fascism in the United States. Rabbi Charry will speak on "Democracy In Danger."

Station Regrets Coughlin Talk

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
NEW YORK.—Protests mounted against the broadcast address of Father Charles E. Coughlin from Royal Oak, Mich., in which, while protesting persecution, he said it had followed the spread of beliefs that the Jews were the leaders of Communism and that Jews had risen to influence radio, journalism and finance. Station WMCA, local outlet for the speech, immediately afterward broadcast a statement that he had "uttered certain mistakes of fact." The American Jewish Federation to Combat Communism and Fascism telegraphed Father Coughlin demanding that he retract the implication that Jews led Communism, which, the telegram said, could have no other effect than promoting and fostering interracial strife.

O'Connell Flays Nazis

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
BOSTON.—In contrast to Father Coughlin, Cardinal O'Connell, addressing 400 college students at Boston's Cathedral of the Holy Cross, declared that Germany was under the heel "of a little group who are striving to cast out not only the Jews, but God himself" and termed this "insanity."

Rev. Abraham Smulyan Dies In Philadelphia

Rev. Abraham Smulyan, brother of Mrs. I. Galsky, Max Smulyan and Calvin Smulyan of Indianapolis and Mrs. Simon Solotkin of Greenfield, Ind., died Saturday, Nov. 19, in his home in Philadelphia. He was 80 years old. For the past 30 years he had been acting rabbi of the Knesses Israel Congregation of Philadelphia. Funeral services were held Sunday morning in Philadelphia. Attending from Indianapolis were Max Smulyan and Mrs. Galsky. Mrs. Solotkin of Greenfield also attended.

INDIANA FUR CO.

Now that cold weather has finally reached us, we think of something to keep us warm when out facing the cold winds. For something smart and attractive let me suggest you make a visit to the INDIANA FUR CO. There you will find a fine selection of mink, Persian lamb, silver foxes, etc. A selection I know we would all be mighty proud to wear. The mink coat with its long fluffy sleeves and slim fitting is the dream of any girl. Also hats trimmed in mink and other trimmings can be yours for the small sum of $3, $5 and $10.00. The season for formal wear has now started and with it, the glamorous looking formals you will be wearing, must have an ultra-smart evening wrap. The INDIANA FUR CO. has just the thing you've been longing to wear, white ermine or silver fox. I feel safe in saying that after making a purchase at the INDIANA FUR CO. you will be walking around with your nose just a little in the air.

HILLMAN'S

Whenever I start to write for HILLMAN'S it seems as though

I can never find enough words to express their exclusive showing of the finest in feminine apparel. The saleswomen are always able to find you something that will have that look of ultra-smartness. Glamorous creations of all types can be found in the exclusive HILLMAN'S shop. After making a purchase at HILLMAN'S you will not only have a proud and attractive feeling but you also will have that up-to-the-minute feeling. A HILLMAN'S label on the back of your coat, dress, or suit will be your symbol of smartness. Make your next purchase a HILLMAN purchase.

Local Synagogues Hold Huge Prayer Meeting Sunday

Orthodox Jewry in Indianapolis will add its voice in protest to the German persecution of Jews in a mass meeting to be held at the Congregation Shalom Tefila, corner S. Meridian and Merrill Sts. this Sunday at 3:00 p. m. The meeting, which will take the form of a special prayer service and talks, is being sponsored by all orthodox congregations in the city. These include, in addition to the Shalom Tefila, the Knesses Israel, the Ezras Achim, the United Hebrew Congregation and Central Hebrew Congregation.

Cantor A. Portnov will chant a special Memorial Prayer composed several hundred years ago for occasions when Jews were facing a crisis. Short talks will be given by Rabbi Samuel A. Katz, of the Shalom Tefila, Rabbi M. M. Feuerlicht of the Indianapolis Hebrew Congregation, and Rabbi Elias Charry of the Beth-El Zedeck Temple.

Jews of the entire community are urged to attend this Prayer Meeting.

Mrs. Pearl Franklin To Address Meeting

Mrs. Pearl Franklin of Chicago, a member of the national board of Hadassah, will address a Youth Aliyah mass meeting Sunday afternoon, Dec. 11, in Kirshbaum Center, it was announced today.

Joining together in the meeting, which is open to the public, will be Junior and Senior Hadassah, the Business and Professional Women's group of Hadassah, and the Indianapolis section of the Indiana Union of Jewish Youth.

Intramural League Launched Sunday

At a meeting last Sunday afternoon, captains of the four intramural basketball teams for the 1938-39 season at Kirshbaum Center, drew up team lists and made final plans for the series. Games will be played each Sunday afternoon starting this Sunday at 2:15 p. m. Two games will be played each week.

2 NAMED INTERNES

Two local Jewish young men were appointed to the City Hospital here for internships beginning July 1. They are Howard L. Kahn and I. W. Brill, both seniors in the Indiana University School of Medicine.

Nazis Denounced By Three Faiths At I. U. Mass Meeting

Special

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. — Denouncing all forms of persecution and Nazi persecution in particular, the Indiana University Committee on Religion here last week sponsored a special prayer meeting for the victims of the Nazi persecution of Jews in Germany.

Catholics, Protestants and Jews were represented at the meeting by ministers and leaders. Father Kilfoil spoke on behalf of the Catholic Church and the Rev. C. Howard Taylor addressed the meeting as a representative of Protestant denominations. Speaking for the Jewish group was Rabbi Martin M. Perley. Prof. Albert L. Kohlmeier, head of the Department of History, was chairman.

A special prayer written by Dr. D. DeSola Pool and Dr. J. R. Sizoo was read by the Rev. W. E. Moore, who also read the call to prayer.

Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Hochman, Mrs. Herman Strashun and Mrs. Louis Strashun have returned from a 10-day visit to New York City.

Mr. Harris Cohen is ill in the Methodist Hospital.

Oscar Kushner returned home Monday from the Methodist Hospital.

Burt Kohn spent Thanksgiving with his family in Joliet, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Tavel have as their guests for the Thanksgiving week-end, their son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Lester I. Tavel of Platt City, Mo., and David Tavel, another son, who is a student at the Chicago College of Optometry in Chicago.

B'nai B'rith Here To Reach All-Time High With Initiation, Dance, December 4

With the 110 new members swelling the lodge membership to the largest in the lodge's history, the Indianapolis Lodge of B'nai B'rith will induct the Meyer Efrogmson class at a banquet, initiation and dance, Sunday night, Dec. 4. The place for the affair has not been selected.

In announcing the affair, Jules Medias, president of the Lodge pointed out that the membership now totals 800, an all-time high for the Indianapolis lodge.

Principal speaker for the banquet will be Philmore J. Haber, of Cleveland, O., president of Second District B'nai B'rith. A forceful personality, Mr. Haber is an after-dinner speaker of note.

Jack Kamins, who conducted the Meyer Efrogmson drive, this week was receiving congratulations for the success of the campaign. "I want to thank the workers for their strenuous effort," Mr. Kamins declared.

Employer

Whether or not you work for this company you're bound to profit in some degree from its payroll, which amounted to $2,208,607.28 last year—not counting hundreds of other Indianapolis men employed in our construction work.

Every cent received from 64,825 average residential electric customers (about two-thirds of the city's homes) was paid out as wages and salaries.

What happened to all that money?

It provided a living, first of all, for about 5,000 persons in our employees' families. And then it spread out through all the local channels of business and job-making: for our employees live and spend their earnings in all parts of Indianapolis . . . buy groceries . . . pay rent . . . furnish homes . . . purchase clothing . . . support churches . . . patronize entertainment . . . pay taxes.

This payroll is not only one of the largest in the city. It's also one of the steadiest, affected less by hard times or seasons than in most other businesses, because Electric service must be maintained 24 hours every day in the year. Forty-nine of our men and women have continuous employment records of more than a quarter-century, and 800 others from five to 24 years.

Payroll makes business, and business makes additional jobs. In keeping up its payroll year after year your Electric company helps substantially to maintain employment and circulate cash so that this city—your home and ours—may thrive and grow for the benefit of everyone in it.

Yep, real winter arrived Tuesday night and what brought it, if you want to know, was a wiener roast given by Josh Fineberg, Bert Kohn and Meyer Efrogmson at Laur Farms. It took two crackling fires to keep the bunch warm. Freddie Goodman, Sonny Weinberg, Mary Efrogmson, Mary Louise Falender, Nettie Marie Dulberger, Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Cohen, Oscar Davis and Sonny Hammerman were the hot puppy munchers. Gabe's wife, who as you know hails from the deep, deep South, got her first glimpse of snow. She was introduced to the game called "judge", and after rendering a decision which met with disfavor, her face was washed with snow. A fine way to treat a rebel, tsh, tsh.

As the result of an auto accident while returning from the Gables early Sunday morning, Bummy Farb is nursing a wrapped wrist and Morris Glazer has four broken ribs. Most seriously hurt was Fay Seligman of Louisville, who with Minnie Cohen formed the fourth of the party. Miss Seligman is in the Methodist hospital suffering from a broken collar bone. We wish you all a very speedy recovery.

We've learned from reliable sources that Hanna Leah Miller and Harold Schwartz are unofficially engaged—it'll become the real McCoy some time in January when he slips her a ring.

Annette Herman is the winner of the tickets to the Indiana theatre as a result of her perfect prediction of the Purdue-Indiana football game. Remember, the score was 13-6, Purdue, and Annette hit it right on the nose. While seated in the Lyric theatre Saturday afternoon someone announced this score of the game and this Herman gal jumped up and yelled, "My God I won."

Bess Drazier was crowned queen by Senator Weiss, Hank Henry provided the music, Frances Sheer, talented youngster presented a tap dance, and a gala array of Symphony boys and Dental students took care of the kibitzing at the Junior Hadassah dance Sunday night. Some of the twosomes were Irving Hoffman and Jeanette Rapaport, Sol Eshowsky and Jeannette Sachs, Joseph Schwartz and Bernice Cohen, Meyer Maierman and Pearl Cohen and gobs of others.

At Eaton's the other evening we saw Mr. and Mrs. Dave Sablosky, Dr. and Mrs. Phil Falender, Allen Bloom and his wife, Evalyn Loeb and Carolyn Strauss with dates and Dr. J. L. Rosenstein.

Beth El was jammed to capacity last Friday night when Rabbi Charry spoke at a protest meeting against the outrageous treatment of Jews in Germany. Many Gentile sympathizers were in the audience. A few days later Rabbi Charry received $10 to help the cause from one Essie Maguire. Thank God for people such as she.

After a stay in the big town, New York, Thelma Einbeinder decided that there's no place like home and came back to stay last week. She studied commercial art, received much praise, but decided to give Indianapolis the benefit of her talents.

Listen mugs, youse dat are just plain tough, and youse dat aren't but would like to be, ought to leg it down to the boxing class at Kirshbaum each Monday and Wednesday and lohn how to take it. Mr. McGinnis is the instructor and his battlin' bulls now include Joe Ceresky, Bob Kroot, Harry Hochman, Jack Larman, Rube Goldstein and Al Nahmias.

A private Ping Pong wielders club held it's first racket slamming session last Tuesday night at the home of "Mocky" and Clara Joseph. The contestants included Maurice and Louise Block, Tony Blauner, Ernest and Clara Fisher, Louise and Roger Kahn, Stanley Joseph, and Irv and Elinor Ruben. Clara Joseph walked off with the championship and the feud will be continued next week at the home of the Maurice Blocks.

Those Hi-Hatters were at it again Tuesday night when they all learned the real "jitterbug" technique from Johnny Sweet, dancing instructor and assistant to Jac Broderick. A three-piece colored band did the blowin' and all the alligators trucked and yammed like killer-dillers.

Say, did you ever see some of our boys bowl at the Parkway alleys on 34th and Illinois? Norm Weisman, Bob Pallman, Art Liberman, the star of the bunch, and Phil Fogle are there strutting their stuff every Wednesday and Thursday nights. Among their regular female rooters are Sylvia Epstein, Natalie Marcus, Sylvia Mairson and Joan Weiss.

The Beth El dance Thursday night was a grand social success. . . . Everyone and their best formal attire was there. . . . Here goes . . . Rabbi and Mrs. Charry, Senator and Mrs. Jacob Weiss, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Frisch, Dave and Mrs. Sablosky, Dr. and Mrs. Arnold, Josh Fineberg and Freddie Goodman, Dr. Bernie Hyman and "Bill" Goldberg, Mike Efrogmson and Mary Louise Falender, Sonny and Verna May Hammerman, who just returned from Buffalo, N. Y., and scattered around Sunny Weinberg, Gus Domont, Reuben Berman, of Marion, Mary Efrogmson, Bess Epstein, Mae Rothman, a visitor, Ezra and Mrs. Weiss, Nellie Vinstein, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kammins, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kroot, and hundreds of others, including distinguished-looking Sid Weinstein and his smiling wife Miriam.

Guess that finishes things for the week, and we'll leave you with this:—I once knew a fellow who thought oboe was a tramp! See you Saturday at the Junior Council dance and later at Sam's Subway.

City Zionists Hail New British Policy; Ludwig Lewisohn To Speak Monday

To Open Doors Of Palestine

Leaders of the Indianapolis Zionist District interview Thursday night at the Beth El Dance at the Claypool Hotel hailed England's reaffirmation of the Balfour Declaration in Parliament Thursday.

Daniel Frisch, an intimate friend of Rabbi Solomon Goldman, president of the Z. O. A., and one of the leading Zionists in the middle west, said that the announcement meant that from 30 to 40 thousand Jews per year would probably be able to emigrate to Palestine, depending upon the ability of the Holy Land to absorb them. He said that the offer of colonies in Tanganyika and British Guiana would have meant very little to Jews, but the new Palestine policy was a turning point in present-day Jewish history.

Rabbi Elias Charry, past president of the Indianapolis District, gave credit to President Roosevelt and Justice Brandeis for the new English policy. Roosevelt knew what Palestine meant to the Jews. It was his effort and urging that was all-important in the English decision to re-open the gates of the Holy Land.

Rabbi Charry said that the colony offer was a sham, since Transjordan, which adjoins Palestine on the east, could have been opened to Jewish colonization and offer an immediate help to the solution of the Jewish problem.

Senator Jacob Weiss, president of the Indianapolis Zionist District, said that the faith of Zionism in Palestine has been vindicated. "The one steady precept of Zionist philosophy has been faith in the rebuilding of Palestine, even through the most trying situations of the past few years. Now this faith has been vindicated. Zionism will go on to even greater achievements in the Holy Land."

CALLIGRAPHIC NOTE: Norman Bentwich, Hebrew U. professor, will fight any man who says he has a more illegible handwriting than his own. . . . In proof of which, the following evidence is adduced. . . . Dr. Cyrus Adler received a letter from Prof. Bentwich. . . . After many futile attempts to make it out, he returned it for deciphering. . . . Several weeks later, Dr. Adler got the letter back with the following note on it: "I can't read it either. N. B."

RECONCILIATION NOTE: We have it on good authority that that famous feud between Ab Cahn and B. Charney Vladeck was liquidated before the latter died. . . . On the very day Vladeck was stricken with his fatal illness, he had an appointment to take the Forward's editor to meet Governor Lehman at the Governor's home. . . .

MISH-MASH: The J.D.C. wouldn't mind having more visitors like Henry Morgenthau Sr. at its headquarters. . . . On the day after the story of the Polish-Jewish deportations broke, Mr. and Mrs. Morgenthau came down to look the offices over. . . . And left a check for $1,000 in response to the J.D.C.'s emergency appeal. . . . The Nazi pogroms even stirred Shakespeare. . . . First name Geoffrey, an undersecretary of the British Admiralty, who took a poke at Hitler that would have done his namesake credit. . . . In London the wags are saying that the latest catchphrase of the persecuted is: JOIN THE JEWS, SEE THE WORLD. . . . Even hard (boxoffice) Hollywood has been stirred out of its political fears by the German catastrophe. . . . Warner Brothers, which shelved "Concentration Camp" last Summer because of political complications, has now decided to film it and devil-take-the-dictators if they don't like it. . . . Wonder if there's any significance to the fact that there's a Sir Byron Peters listed in the Who's Who. . . . That startling announcement we ho-hummed to our readers several columns back is now ready. . . . But out of respect to an honored rival (who was slightly scooped on his own story) we'll let him spill it himself. . . . This much we can tell you, the B'nai B'rith is embarking on a somewhat new policy in the matter of publicity. . . . The Nazis have finally admitted something they have been loath to admit since way back when. . . . That Heinrich Heine, and not "Anon," was the author of Die Lorelei, Germany's best known folk song. . . . Hitherto, Nazi textbooks have listed the author of the song as anonymous. . . . Now the Nazi Educational Department has banned it as the work of a Jew. . . . Ah, well, truth will put even in Nazi Germany. . . .

MONSTROCITY NOTE: That "cripple-minded" Goebbels, as the Archbishop of Baltimore so aptly dubbed him, has earned for himself the undisputed right to a new title. . . . Conferred upon him by (Bishop) Peters in a moment of mad inspiration. . . . The Reich's No. 2 Ratzl will henceforth be known in this column (and we hope you'll spread the word) as Propaganda MONSTER Goebbels. . . .

DOROTHY THOMPSON: That impassioned plea of yours on the radio in behalf of Herschel Grynszpan, luckless youth whose shots brought hell-on-earth to German Jewry, has made you the darling of the nation. . . . We know of at least one hardboiled newspaperman who wept unashamedly as your voice came over the loudspeaker. . . .

HERSCHEL GRYNSPAN: One of the biggest and best law firms in the United States is interested in your case and will probably have its ablest counsel present at your trial to act in an advisory capacity. . . .

SWING NOTE: Eddie Cantor, among the galaxy of stars at the United Palestine Appeal's "Night of Stars," must be credited with pulling the niftiest gag of the evening. . . . Commenting on the criticism of the jitterbug craze, Banjo-eyes said he wasn't among those who viewed the young swing fans with alarm. . . . "It's better," he gave out, "to be hailing band leaders than heiling bund leaders." . . .

BOOK REVIEW

Bill Ziff biffs Britain's roaring lion
In a big, bold book, "The Rape of Palestine."

LIT'RY NOTE: Bill Ziff, all poetry aside, has written a truly provocative volume in "The Rape of Palestine," (Longmans, Green) and one that will give any thoughtful reader a stimulating evening. . . . Ziff, a strapping young six-footer who is as energetic as he is good-looking, devoted two full years to preparation of the book. . . . Into its 600 pages he has packed a wealth of information about the Jews, and the Zionist movement from its inception down to the present parlous times. . . . In treating of Great Britain's role in the development of the Jewish national home, the author takes both gloves off and handles the mandatory power roughly. . . . His thesis, pungently summed up in the title, is that the Jews have been deliberately hoodwinked and robbed by the British and that the Balfour Declaration was little more than a cold cynical effort to obtain world-wide Jewish sympathy for the allied cause in the World War. . . . The present (and past) Zionist leadership is also the target of barbed shafts of criticism. . . . Ziff writes a brisk, two-fisted prose that makes for easy reading of a subject that can be extremely dull and pedantic if given the ordinary historical treatment. . . .

News! M. Weiner Refuses To Name All American 11

BY MORRIS WEINER

NEW YORK—Today we come of age. This year we're not picking an all-official all-Jewish all-star all-American football team. We're of the opinion that these all-star selections are the real all-American hoax and that such selections stand unchallenged as the most goofy manifestation of football madness that sweeps this country every year.

A Jewish all-American football team serves no purpose. Many of the boys chosen on such aggregations usually make one or more of the many all-star teams chosen throughout the country. The confusion at the end of the season, of course, is inevitable with all-American boards springing up in each newspaper plant in the country. Choosing eleven Jewish boys out of the more than fifteen hundred Hebrew lads who are playing football in American colleges and universities this year and arbitrarily declaring that these eleven are the best Jewish ball players in the land is an almost impossible task.

A man at City College plays with the same heart, zest, will-to-win and sportsmanship as the man at Notre Dame and the same holds true for Trinity, New Hampshire, Maine and North Dakota, as it does for Navy, Michigan, Columbia, Pittsburgh, St. Mary and Tulane. And when there are great ball players—great Jewish ball players everywhere—it is an Herculean task to say "This man makes the team."

Material Available

Don't think for a moment that there isn't sufficient gridiron material this year to round out what we normally would designate as "the most formidable team in the country." From end to end and from signal caller to tail back there are Jewish football players at least five deep who are clamoring for bids on such a Jewish all-star aggregation. Green of Harvard, Luckman of Columbia, Goldberg of Pitt, Spector of Navy, Pingel of Michigan, Roth of Cornell, (Continued on last page)

Justice Brandeis Sees President; Rumor Revived

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

WASHINGTON—Supreme Court Justice Louis D. Brandeis called on President Roosevelt for the second time in recent weeks and talked with him for 40 minutes. The conference led to a revival of reports that Mr. Brandeis is considering the possibility of retiring from the bench to take the leadership of the Zionist movement. It was said that should he retire he would wish that Prof. Felix Frankfurter succeed him.

Miss Thelma Einbinder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Einbinder, who has been studying art in New York, has come to spend the holiday with her parents.

The Editor's Chair,

Now I don't like Philip Slomovitz, editor of The Detroit Jewish Chronicle, because he doesn't like me, but I must concede that he is one Anglo-Jewish editor that has won the entire respect, admiration and love of the Jews of his community.

I met Mrs. Joseph Ehrlich, first vice-president of national Hadasah, recently, and she took pains to impress on me what a fine, industrious and upright editor Mr. Slomovitz was. That was in Louisville. Then not more than several weeks later, Simon Shetzer, president of the Detroit Jewish Community, in Indianapolis told the annual meeting of The Jewish Welfare Fund and the Jewish Community Center Association, how Mr. Slomovitz and his paper had been delegated to answer the unfounded lies of the Protocol, which Father Coughlins' paper, Social Justice, reprinted.

These are only recent instances of the respect in which Mr. Slomovitz is held by even the leaders of Detroit Jewry. Notice I said even the leaders. In most cities, a certain section of the Jewish community supports and lauds its local Jewish publication, while the leading group usually tolerates, but rarely actively supports its own paper. But in Detroit the entire community, leaders and followers alike, read, support, and praise The Chronicle.

Mr. Slomovitz and his paper have long been leaders in the Anglo-Jewish press. Full, daily-paper size, The Chronicle is often sixteen pages large, and always covers happenings of local and national import fairly and completely. The Chronicle's editorials are quoted as often as that of any other Anglo-Jewish publication, and its feature articles are often reprinted and syndicated.

I wish my community would accord this paper the same respect as Detroit accords The Chronicle. Yes, I know the answer. This paper must first earn that respect. Be that as it may, Mr. Slomovitz and The Chronicle offer a good example of community respect and cooperation.

The Nazi Pogrom Not The Real Headlines

DESPITE the Nazi death sentence's front-page headlines in the newspapers, History will write headlines of her own, headlines not on the death-rattle of a once proud Jewish community, but on the birth pangs of terror-born new Jewish localities.

History writes in blood-red ink of the Spanish Inquisition, in black of the decadence of Spanish civilization and might. But the story of the enlightenment, industry and intelligence spread throughout Europe by the victim's of Ferdinand and Isabella's unforgivable cold-bloodedness, is the story of advancement and progress written in the brightest lines of the rainbow.

In South America, in Africa, in Palestine, wherever the World Powers decide to plant German Jews and Jews of other stricken communities, Jewish civilization, Jewish ingenuity, and intelligence, will rear centers of a new civilization. In the dispersing of persecuted Jews throughout the world, is being carried out the same grafting process that characterized the immigration to the United States. Men and women and children charged with the unleashed desire to build new homes in a wilderness, to create out of jungle and forest a glowing civilization founded upon liberty, of belief and action, will tread the hard road of the pioneer.

Just as the stupidity of eighteenth and nineteenth century kings populated the western hemisphere with the strongest and most forceful characters of their nations, so the Nazis and their imitators will people backward parts of the world today. Courageous Jews, persecuted Jews, Jews prepared by grief to face hardships and handicaps, will repeat the age-old story of rebuilding their shattered lives.

That these centers will become the stronger parts of world Jewry, is a historical conclusion. The story has been re-told in Spain, in Holland, in Poland, in Germany, in France, and in the United States. Great centers of Jewish learning, important Jewish communities, world-famous Jewish leaders, these our children and our children's children will find in a Madagascar, a Tanganyika, or a British Guiana.

Yes, history will write her own headlines, just as now she is dipping her pen in blood to write the newest chapter to the story of the Jews.

Protest Services Crowded

THE crowded synagogues that greeted worshippers who attended protest services last week-end, must have been a revelation to cynics who for the past few years have discounted religion as a present-day social force in Jewish life. Caught in a maelstrom of disastrous world events, Jews as always of old, have turned to their religion for sustenance and faith.

In the past the persecutors of the Jew always came upon their victim huddled in the synagogue, straining close to their one hope—the Torah. The Jew knew his strongest weapon and until the last he clung to it. Neither fire, nor the sword, starvation nor bullets, could defeat the Jew as long as he held fast to his Torah.

So today we turn again to the Torah for our strength. Some of the younger of us, unfamiliar with the broad social program of the prophets, have turned to social ideals for their messiah, not knowing that in their own religion may be found these same concepts for social justice, for freedom, for equality, for the brotherhood of man. In truth, they too, are returning to the stronghold of the Jew, unaware of their action, though they may be.

We must align ourselves with the forces of democracy, with the ranks of the progressives, the Jewish lay leader cries out today. Let him but turn to his Bible, to his Torah, and there he will find that which his soul burns for, that for which 2,000 years ago our prophets fought, just as the social reformer today.

Unfortunately some of our rabbis turned the protest meetings into political platforms, relegating religion to a minor role. Others, however, under the urging of the Central Conference of American Rabbis for the primacy of religion in Jewish life, presented a beautiful and significant religious ceremony, with all the ceremonials, the heart-stirring melodies and the religious consolation of our great religion.

It is not at all beyond the realm of immediate actuality that our lay leaders and the great Jewish masses have learned their lessons, and under alert leadership of our rabbis, will return to the synagogue for their inspiration, their consolation, and for their spiritual sustenance.

Current Comment

The Jewish Record, of Providence, R. I., Reprints a Humorous Letter From Morrie Ryskind, From The American Spectator Year Book.—Dear Jehovah:

You will pardon this informal greeting, but You see, the Ryskind—Your records will confirm this—have been Jews for goodness knows how many centuries, and I will always think of You as one of the family.

Your name has been a byword in our household for generations, and although You haven't been around lately, they still talk of the times You used to come and visit the Mesepocha. My late grandfather, one of Your fervent admirers, never got tired of telling me of the days You went walking with Noah, and the long talks You had with Moses; and many is the laugh (Reverend understand me) we had together over the time Abraham beat you down with fifty righteous to ten. Of course, I realize that Abraham didn't really get anything out of it, because, if I recall the story, You went right ahead and destroyed the cities. Nevertheless I like the principle of the thing.

I could go on like that forever, but it would just be an old story to You. I just want to make it clear that Your works have left a distinct impression on the Ryskind. And when I say Your works I mean Your works, and none of this new testament stuff. Oh, I'm not denying that occasionally one of the boys would turn agnostic. But—so far, at any rate, there hasn't been a reformed Jew in the bunch. And that is a pretty good record for the Chosen People, if I do say it.

And, speaking of the Chosen People, that is what I wanted to talk to You about. What I mean is, I'm wondering if it wouldn't be possible for us to keep on being Jews, and still not be the Chosen People. Please don't misunderstand me, Lord. I'm deeply appreciative of the honor You conferred on us. And, it would be all right if You alone had chosen us.

But, You know what happened. After You chose us, it got to be the vogue. The first thing we knew, everybody was choosing us. There was that time in Egypt when the Pharaohs needed more slaves—so they chose us. And then the Babylonians and the Greeks and the Romans all chose us. And the Spanish Inquisition—and the Russians—and now—it's Hitler.

Of course, we don't mean to be rude, and we are deeply grateful to all these people, but all these social functions cut into our work terribly. There is always so much to be done—especially in these days—and a fellow simply can't do his best work when he's been out late to a pogrom the night before. I don't want to be narrow-minded about it; I'm not saying that a pogrom once in a while isn't a good thing. But, right now, it's two and three pogroms a week and how long can anybody keep that up. So, if You could find it convenient to just lay off us for a little while—say for a century or two—we would be very much obliged. If You would choose some Goyim for a change, we could probably get some things done in this cockeyed world. And when I say Goyim, I don't mean just Schwarza, either. They've got it tough enough now.

Such a moral might give Einstein a chance to work out something in science. Furthermore, it might stop Ludwig Lewisohn from writing about the Jewish problem. Ludwig is a brilliant writer, but we all have begun to wish he would find himself a new theme song. If that is all we got out of it, it would be worth while.

Hoping You can see Your way clear to comply with this request, I beg to remain,

Yours respectfully,

MORRIE RYSKIND.

Banner Year For Jews

The current grid season rapidly drawing to a close was without doubt a banner year for Jewish athletes on the football field. Again there was an increase in the number of Jews in moleskins. As there are Jewish players who are absolute "musts" as choices anybody's list. Once more Walter Camp picked Joe Alexander of Syracuse as his first Jewish candidate for all-American honors we point to statistics prove that the majority of standing elevens in the country this season boasted of first all-American Jewish ball players. Time again this year these boys were the heroes of their Saturday skin parties. Mentioning but a drive home this point—Gold during the Fordham game, Leman in the Army clash, against Dartmouth, Spector against Notre Dame, Stein against Loyola, Nechtem against Boston College.

Again this year sportswriter athletic directors, graduate managers, coaches, publicity men, fraternities—besides the numerous army of Jewish fans—have besieged us with their choices for Jewish all-American eleven. Thank them for their cooperation but we still stick to our guns.

We could mention several of that could easily be the "off choice." Units of men from to end that would present line with plenty of power, we speed, heft, brawn and fight—all veterans. Players who throughout the 1938 season have drawn the spectators with their brilliant performances and bewildered sportswriters with added confusion as to the whys and wherefores of all-American choices. Of course present the equals of Luckman, Goldberg among our Jewish former looms as a highly imitable feat. For that matter limit such a difficult task to our Jewish performers. Lads are what we term "muscle." But, as in the line, our Jewish backs stand four and five waiting to call signals, to pass, kick, or run. Name your and they'll run it for touchdown.

It's silly to pick Jewish all-American football teams. It's silly to pick all-American teams of sport. Nevertheless, America recognizes that the Jewish athlete likes game and that the game likes Jewish athlete's spirit, ability, sportsmanship.
